

Success is always the result of team work!

Sailing over the rough North Atlantic Sea on a small boat with a team of eleven crew members is a borderline experience that strongly affected experimental archaeologist, extreme sailor and author Dr. Dominique Goerlitz. Such an extreme situation can only be mastered successfully if a well-established team can rely on each other 100 %. Motivation, courage and team spirit are decisive key qualifications – not only on the high seas but in your everyday work routine as well!
